

Push notification settings

06/25/2023 1:16 pm PDT

Notifications are critical for staying connected and informed in a group. However, managing a flood of notifications can sometimes become overwhelming. Heylo is designed to only provide helpful information and reduce noise. Admins and members can control their own push notifications to adjust the level of notifications. Notification settings are applied equally across all groups.

Toggle on or off the following push notifications to adjust push notification settings:

Members

- New members. Receive a notification when new members join the group

Topics

- New topics. Receive a notification when a new topic
- New messages. Receive a notification when a new message is sent in a topic or event chat you have joined
- Members joining your topics. Receive a notification when members join topics you are in
- @mentions. Receive a notification when someone @mentions

Events

- New events. Receive a notification when a new event is created, and the host elects to notify everyone
 - Event updates. Receive a notification when an event you are attending is updated and the host elects to notify everyone
 - Weekly upcoming events. Receive a notification reminder each week for upcoming events
-